Read this first. Missing a legal deadline can end a case. The dates below are estimates generated automatically — always confirm the exact date with the court or a lawyer.

⚠ I haven't paid on that card since August 2020.

- Estimated deadline: 2026-08-01
- Basis: Minn. Stat. § 541.05, subd. 1(1) (6-year limitations period on a contract/credit-card debt); Minn. Stat. § 541.053 (a payment or written acknowledgment can restart the clock — but cannot revive a debt already time-barred).
- Triggering event: incident on 2020-08-01
- Jurisdiction: MN
- In Minnesota a credit-card/contract debt generally becomes time-barred about 6 years after your last payment or default — after that, the collector can ask but cannot force you to pay. WARNING: making even a small payment (or admitting the debt in writing) BEFORE that date can RESTART the whole 6-year clock. Do NOT pay or promise anything until a lawyer confirms the exact limitations date. Estimated — confirm the exact date with the court or a lawyer.

⚠ The letter came in the mail June 25, its dated June 20, and it says I owe $2,483.17.

- Estimated deadline: 2026-07-20
- Basis: 15 U.S.C. § 1692g(a)-(b) (FDCPA debt-validation period: 30 days from RECEIPT of the collector's initial written notice; a timely written dispute forces collection to cease until the debt is verified).
- Triggering event: notice posted on 2026-06-20
- Jurisdiction: MN
- Under the federal Fair Debt Collection Practices Act you generally have 30 days from when you RECEIVED the collector's first letter to dispute or demand verification of the debt in writing (this window runs from the date you received the letter, not the date printed on it). A written dispute mailed in time forces the collector to stop until they verify the debt. Estimated — confirm the exact date with the court or a lawyer.

⚠ Mr. Drummond says if I don't set something up, they're gonna garnish my wages and freeze my bank account by the end of the month.

General

| Inappropriate Communication at Work

Claim Type: discovered | Confidence: 90%

ISSUE

Given the consumer specifically requested not to receive calls at work, the debt collector's persistence despite that request could be construed as harassment under the FDCPA.

| Wrongful Collection Practices

Claim Type: discovered | Confidence: 80%

FOLIO IRI: <https://folio.openlegalstandard.org/RkFqkFfrtGlzCVzePQ2QD>

ISSUE

If the debt collector has not followed proper legal channels for debt collection as required by state or federal law, their practices may be considered wrongful or actionable.

RULE

No authorities identified for this claim.

APPLICATION

No elements defined for this claim.

CONCLUSION

| Credit Reporting Issues

Claim Type: discovered | Confidence: 40%

ISSUE

Given the inconsistencies in the reported debt amounts, this may lead to an examination of credit reporting discrepancies that could affect the consumer's credit score.

RULE

| Debt Validation Request

Claim Type: discovered | Confidence: 40%

ISSUE

Since the consumer claims to not have received any lawsuit or notice, they may have the right to challenge the validity of the debt, which the debt collector is obliged to provide proof of upon request.
