

□ Your Safety Comes First

Some of what you shared suggests you may be dealing with a situation that could put your safety at risk. You are not alone, and help is available right now — you do not need a lawyer or any money to reach it.

If you are in immediate danger, call 911.

You can reach trained, confidential help any time:

- Stalking Prevention, Awareness, and Resource Center (SPARC) (<https://www.stalkingawareness.org>)
- National Domestic Violence Hotline — call 1-800-799-7233, or text START to 88788 (<https://www.thehotline.org>)
- National Dating Abuse Helpline — call 1-866-331-9474, or text LOVEIS to 22522
- Text the Crisis Text Line: text HOME to 741741 (open 24/7, for any kind of crisis)

Asking a court to protect you. If someone has hurt you or made you afraid, you can ask a court for an Order for Protection (sometimes called a restraining order). It is a free request you can make yourself: the court clerk's office or a local advocate can give you the forms and walk you through them, often the same day. A domestic violence advocate (reachable through the hotline above) can help you fill them out and can go with you.

You get to decide what feels safe for you. The steps above are here whenever you are ready.

Executive Summary

This intake revealed 17 potential legal issues in Minnesota. The most serious issues include not providing pay stubs (documents showing how much you earned), wage theft (not being paid for work done), and not paying for all hours worked. IMPORTANT: It looks like at least one important deadline has already passed—there is a last opportunity to resolve this issue before I take it to the state on July 6, 2026. (computed 2026-07-06) [Minn. Stat. § 504B.321 (a law about eviction summons and hearing procedures in Minnesota); check the date on your summons or hearing notice.]. Please confirm this immediately, as missing deadlines can end a case. There are also safety concerns noted in this story; see the safety resources below.
