You get to decide what feels safe for you. The steps above are here whenever you are ready.

□ Deadlines & Time-Sensitive Items

Read this first. Missing a legal deadline can end a case. The dates below are estimates generated automatically — always confirm the exact date with the court or a lawyer.

□ on april 6 i get an email saying no, lifting up to 50 pounds is an 'essential function,' and get this, they said the light duty program is ONLY for people who got hurt ON THE JOB. — DEADLINE MAY HAVE PASSED

- Estimated deadline: 2026-04-20
- Basis: Minn. Stat. § 504B.321, subd. 1a (14-day written notice required before an eviction action for nonpayment of rent); for other Minnesota notice-to-quit periods see Minn. Stat. § 504B.135. The period printed on your notice controls if longer.
- Triggering event: notice posted on 2026-04-06
- Jurisdiction: MN
- WARNING: this deadline appears to have ALREADY PASSED as of 2026-07-11. Minnesota requires a written notice period before a nonpayment eviction can be filed; the cure/vacate date is computed from the day the notice was given. Estimated — confirm the exact date with the court or a lawyer. If this notice period has already passed, an eviction case may have been filed — but that is not the end: in Minnesota you can still raise your defenses at the eviction hearing (including paying what is owed to redeem in a nonpayment case, Minn. Stat. § 504B.291). If a judgment was already entered, ask about vacating it and about expungement (Minn. Stat. § 484.014).

△ Gideon is questioning if he has a deadline for filing something with the government about the discrimination. Did I already miss it, since the accommodation thing was back in April?

- Estimated deadline: 2027-01-31
- Basis: 42 U.S.C. § 2000e-5(e)(1), applied to ADA claims via 42 U.S.C. § 12117(a) (in a deferral state such as Minnesota, an EEOC charge must be filed within 300 days of the discriminatory act; each discrete act — a denial of accommodation, a discharge — has its own clock).

- To sue for disability discrimination under federal law (the ADA), you usually must first file a charge with the EEOC within 300 days of the discriminatory act in Minnesota (42 U.S.C. § 2000e-5(e)(1); § 12117(a)). Each separate act — being denied an accommodation, being fired — starts its own 300-day clock, so the EARLIEST act controls for that claim. Executive Summary

This intake identified 26 possible legal issues in Minnesota. The most significant ones include Failure to Provide Reasonable Accommodation (not making necessary adjustments for someone with a disability), Disability Discrimination (treating someone unfairly because of their disability), and FMLA Rights Violation (violating rights under the Family and Medical Leave Act). IMPORTANT: At least one deadline seems to have already passed. On April 6, I received an email stating that lifting up to 50 pounds is considered an 'essential function' of the job. They also mentioned that the light duty program is only available for those who were injured at work. (computed 2026-04-20) [Minn. Stat. § 504B.321, subd. 1a (you must give a 14-day written notice before starting an eviction for unpaid rent); for other notice periods in Minnesota, see Minn. Stat. § 504B.135. If your notice has a longer period, that one takes precedence.]. Please verify this right away, as missing deadlines can affect your case. There were also safety concerns mentioned in this report; see the safety resources below. The analysis is fully complete, but 29 follow-up questions could improve the assessment.

FOLIO IRI: <https://folio.openlegalstandard.org/R7coJULMWSPoIPITP5qUS96>

ISSUE

Gideon asked for a reasonable accommodation (a change or adjustment to the workplace to help someone with a disability) because of his medical condition. His request was ignored for almost a month, and as a result, he was fired after he could not come back to work. This indicates that there was a failure to accommodate his disability.

RULE

No authorities identified for this claim.

APPLICATION

- Request for Accommodation: Supported (85% confidence) - The employee formally requested an accommodation from the employer.
 - Fact: Gideon's doctor put him on a restriction in February. (85% match)
 - Fact: I asked HR if I could get moved to the scan station or use the lift assist for the heavy stuff. (85% match)
 - Fact: Most of Gideon's job is scanning and picking small bins. (85% match)

- Denial of Accommodation: Supported (85% confidence) - The employer did not provide the requested accommodation within a reasonable timeframe.
 - Fact: Tri-State Fulfillment is unable to grant the requested accommodation. (85% match)
 - Fact: HR sat on my request for almost a month. (83% match)
- Legitimate Need for Accommodation: Supported (85% confidence) - The employee has a disability that necessitates accommodation.
 - Fact: Gideon's restriction is to not lift over 35 pounds. (85% match)
 - Fact: The Picker I position requires the ability to lift up to 50 lbs on a regular basis. (81% match)

Violation of MN Human Rights Act

Claim Type: discovered | Confidence: 70%

FOLIO IRI: <https://folio.openlegalstandard.org/R0TZk2qCI4HPwDl3e9FoOo>

ISSUE

The facts indicate that Gideon might have a legal claim under the Minnesota Human Rights Act (a law that protects individuals from discrimination) for discrimination because of his disability. This is based on the possibility that he did not get the correct information about his rights and options for filing a claim, especially regarding the release of claims (which means giving up the right to pursue certain legal actions).

- [] [URGENT] Confirm the deadline for: Gideon is questioning if he has a deadline for filing something with the government about the discrimination. Did I already miss it, since the accommodation thing was back in April? (estimated 2027-01-31; 42 U.S.C. § 2000e-5(e)(1), applied to ADA claims via 42 U.S.C. § 12117(a) (in a deferral state such as Minnesota, an EEOC charge must be filed within 300 days of the discriminatory act; each discrete act — a denial of accommodation, a discharge — has its own clock).). ◦ Deadline: 2027-01-31

- [] [URGENT] Separate from being fired, the law required your employer to seriously discuss a 'reasonable accommodation' with you (like the scan station or lift-assist) and not just say no (42 U.S.C. § 12112(b)(5); Minn. Stat. § 363A.08). Skipping that back-and-forth (the 'interactive process') can be its own violation, with its own deadline. Did anyone ever actually discuss other job options with you before denying it? [Authority: 42 U.S.C. § 12112(b)(5) (ADA failure to accommodate / interactive process); Minn. Stat. § 363A.08 (MHRA disability accommodation)]
- [] [URGENT] You asked your boss about overtime and were fired the same day. Firing or punishing a worker for asking about unpaid wages or overtime is illegal retaliation in Minnesota (Minn. Stat. § 181.03, subd. 6; § 177.32). The timing matters a lot here. Do you have the texts or messages showing you asked about overtime right before you were fired? [Authority: Minn. Stat. § 181.03, subd. 6 (retaliation for asserting wage rights); Minn. Stat. § 177.32 (MFLSA anti-retaliation)]
- [] [URGENT] The severance agreement asks you to release ALL claims — including the discrimination and accommodation claims — for the payment. Do NOT sign it without legal advice first, and note the sign-by date is a CONTRACT deadline set by the employer, not a legal filing deadline. If you do sign, Minnesota law gives you 15 days afterward to cancel the release of your state human-rights claims (Minn. Stat. § 363A.31). Would you like this reviewed before the sign-by date? [Authority: Minn. Stat. § 363A.31 (15-day rescission right after signing a release of MHRA claims); a severance release generally waives ADA/MHRA/FMLA claims]

- [] [URGENT] You said you worked 50+ hour weeks but were paid straight time. In Minnesota you are generally owed time-and-a-half for hours over 48 in a week (Minn. Stat. § 177.25), and federal law may require it over 40 (29 U.S.C. § 207). Unpaid overtime can be a big part of what you are owed. Do you have a record of your weekly hours? [Authority: Minn. Stat. § 177.25 (MFLSA overtime: time-and-a-half over 48 hrs/week); 29 U.S.C. § 207 (FLSA over 40 hrs/week if covered)]
- [] [URGENT] You mentioned holding back rent because the landlord is ignoring repairs. Withholding on your own can be used against you in an eviction — but there is a legal way to do it: in Minnesota you can deposit the rent with the court (rent escrow, Minn. Stat. § 504B.385) and ask the court to order repairs; other states have an equivalent. Have you asked the court about depositing your rent instead of just holding it back? [Authority: Minn. - [] [URGENT] You were put on unpaid medical leave but say no one mentioned FMLA or gave you any FMLA paperwork. For an eligible employee at a large employer, failing to offer and designate FMLA leave can be unlawful 'interference' (29 U.S.C. § 2615). Eligibility depends on hours worked and employer size. About how many hours did you work in the year before the leave, and how big is the site? - Procedural Requirement (Priority 84): You mentioned holding back rent because the landlord is ignoring repairs. Withholding on your own can be used against you in an eviction — but there is a legal way to do it: in Minnesota you can deposit the rent with the court (rent escrow, Minn. Stat. § 504B.385) and ask the court to order repairs; other states have an equivalent. Have you asked the court about depositing your rent instead of just holding it back?

[Authority: Minn. Stat. § 504B.385 (rent escrow); § 504B.425 (remedies); § 504B.161 (covenants of habitability)]

- See Action Item #10

- Procedural Requirement (Priority 86): You said you worked 50+ hour weeks but were paid straight time. In Minnesota you are generally owed time-and-a-half for hours over 48 in a week (Minn. Stat. § 177.25), and federal law may require it over 40 (29 U.S.C. § 207). Unpaid overtime can be a big part of what you are owed. Do you have a record of your weekly hours? [Authority: Minn. Stat. § 177.25 (MFLSA overtime: time-and-a-half over 48 hrs/week); 29 U.S.C. § 207 (FLSA over 40 hrs/week if covered)]

- See Action Item #9

- Procedural Requirement (Priority 88): You asked your boss about overtime and were fired the same day. Firing or punishing a worker for asking about unpaid wages or overtime is illegal retaliation in Minnesota (Minn. Stat. § 181.03, subd. 6; § 177.32). The timing matters a lot here. Do you have the texts or messages showing you asked about overtime right before you were fired? [Authority: Minn. Stat. § 181.03, subd. 6 (retaliation for asserting wage rights); Minn. Stat. § 177.32 (MFLSA anti-retaliation)]

- See Action Item #7

- Procedural Requirement (Priority 90): Separate from being fired, the law required your employer to seriously discuss a 'reasonable accommodation' with you (like the scan station or lift-assist) and not just say no (42 U.S.C. § 12112(b)(5); Minn. Stat. § 363A.08). Skipping that back-and-forth (the 'interactive process') can be its own violation, with its own deadline. Did anyone ever actually discuss other job options with you before denying it? [Authority: 42 U.S.C. § 12112(b)(5) (ADA failure to accommodate / interactive process); Minn. Stat. § 363A.08 (MHRA disability accommodation)]

- See Action Item #6

- Procedural Requirement (Priority 88): The severance agreement asks you to release ALL claims — including the discrimination and accommodation claims — for the payment. Do NOT sign it without legal advice first, and note the sign-by date is a CONTRACT deadline set by the employer, not a legal filing deadline. If you do sign, Minnesota law gives you 15 days afterward to cancel the release of your state human-rights claims (Minn. Stat. § 363A.31). Would you like this reviewed before the sign-by date? [Authority: Minn. Stat. § 363A.31 (15-day rescission right after signing a release of MHRA claims); a severance release generally waives ADA/MHRA/FMLA claims]
